<td>I consider the presented theses as an interesting project which was preceded by a good analyses. I appreciate that the student chose the project with modern OAuth2 authorization architecture and REST API. Similarly I appreciate the quality of English language in the presented text. I am convinced that the project fulfilled entire assignment.\nI have only a few objections: \nI noticed some typos in the text of theses.\nThe architecture of OAuth 2 in the chapter Review is described repeatedly: first in the article 2.1 and once again in the article 2.2.\nI lack description of an HTTP client library which was used to communicate with Google API.\nI lack descriptions of test scenarios which were used for user’s testing.</td>
