

ECG rhythm strip showing a regular sinus rhythm. The rate is approximately 70-80 bpm. The P waves are visible before each QRS complex, and the T waves are visible after each QRS complex. The traces are arranged in a sequence, likely representing a 12-lead ECG.